

This Week in the Whittier Pollinator Garden

August, 2018

There are more milkweed pods than there ever have been before. The garden is truly a monarch paradise. Add to this the first ever Black-eyed Susan blooms, goldenrod and phlox, and the pollinators have a veritable buffet of late summer flowers!

The first Black-Eyed Susans, Rudbeckia Hirta

Goldenrod; Solidago Canadensis

Common Milkweed, Asclepias syriaca, pods